Paper Title Paper Title Paper Title

Author 1 Name Surname

Author 1 Institution Name, e-mail address, ORCID no

Author 2 Name Surname

Author 2 Institution Name, e-mail address, ORCID no

Abstract

The abstract should be between 300-350 words. It should include the purpose, method, and findings of the study. It should be written in Times New Roman, 12 points, 1.5 line spacing and black. The abstract should be a minimum of 300 and a maximum of 350 words. Any picture, figure graphic etc. item should not be included. The paragraph should be justified on both sides. The abstract should be between 300-350 words. The abstract should include a summary. The abstract should be between 300-350 words. The abstract should include the purpose, method and findings of the study. It should be written in Times New Roman, 12 points, 1.5 line spacing and black. The abstract should be a minimum of 300 and a maximum of 350 words. Any picture, figure, figure graphic etc. item should not be included. The paragraph should be justified on both sides. This section should include a summary. The abstract should be between 300-350 words. The abstract should include a summary. The

Keywords: Keyword 1, Keyword 2, Keyword 3, Keyword 4

Introduction

This section should include an introduction, theoretical framework, literature review, importance of the research, purpose of the research, and research questions. In this section, the introduction, theoretical framework, literature review, importance of the research, purpose of the research, and research questions will be included. This section should include an introduction, theoretical framework, literature review, importance of the research, purpose of the research, and research questions. In this section, the introduction, theoretical framework, literature review, importance of the research, purpose of the research, and research questions will be included. This section should include an introduction, theoretical framework, literature review, importance of the research, purpose of the research and research questions. In this section, the introduction, theoretical framework, literature review, importance of the research, purpose of the research and research questions will be included. This section should include introduction, theoretical framework, literature review, the importance of the research, purpose of the research and research questions. In this section, the introduction, theoretical framework, literature review, importance of the research, purpose of the research and research questions will be included. This section should include introduction, theoretical framework, literature review, importance of the research, purpose of the research and research questions. In this section, the introduction, theoretical framework, literature review, importance of the research, purpose of the research and research questions will be included.

Method

In this section, the method of the research will be explained. The design of the research, participants, data collection tools, and data analysis methods should be included in this section. In this section, the method of the research will be explained. The design of the research, participants, data collection tools, and data analysis methods should be included in this section. In this section, the method of the research will be explained. The design of the research, participants, data collection tools, and data analysis methods should be included in this section. In this section, the method of the research will be explained. The design of the research, participants, data collection tools, and data analysis methods should be included in this section. In this section, the method of the research will be explained. The design of the research, participants, data collection tools, and data analysis methods should be included in this section.

Results

In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented. In this section, the findings of the research will be presented.

The format of the tables to be used should be as follows: .

Table 1: Table Name

Model no.	Name	X	Y	Z
1	XXXXX	7,77	2,44	5,84
2	XXXXX	7,10	3,12	4,92
3	XXXXX	7,03	3,17	4,93
4	XXXXX	6.92	1,19	5,07
5	XXXXX	7,41	2,98	5,14

The format of the figures to be used should be as follows:

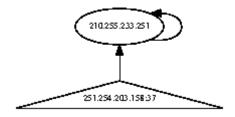

Figure 1: Figure Name

Discussion and Conclusion

This section will contain the discussion and conclusion. Discussion, conclusion, and recommendations will be included in this section. This section will contain the discussion and conclusion. Discussion, conclusion, and recommendations will be included in this section. This section will contain the discussion and conclusion. Discussion, conclusion, and recommendations will be included in this section. This section will contain the discussion and conclusion. Discussion, conclusion, and recommendations will be included in this section. This section will contain the discussion and conclusion. Discussion, conclusion, and recommendations will be included in this section. This section will contain the discussion and conclusion. Discussion, conclusion and recommendations will be included in this section. This section will contain the discussion and conclusion. Discussion, conclusion and recommendations will be included in this section. This section will contain the discussion and conclusion. Discussion, conclusion, and recommendations will be included in this section.

References

Surname, A. (Year), Title of Book (Italic), City: Publisher

Surname, A., Surname, A., Surname, A. (Year), Title of Book (Italic), City: Publisher.

Surname, A. (Year), Title of Chapter, Editor's A. Surname, Title of Book (Italic) in (p. page range) City: Publisher.

Surname A. (Year), Title of Article, Name of Journal (Italic), Volume (Number), page range.

Surname, A. (Year), Title (Italic), Retrieved from ... on ...site: ...